

Lots of people affected by bleeding disorders are entitled to support from the Government.

These pages are intended to help you navigate the system and work out what benefits and support you might be entitled to.

- Type of Benefit

- Which Benefits are for me?

- My plans for the future

Related Links

- Department of Work and Pensions

The Government department responsible for benefits.

- DirectGov

Directgov is the UK government's digital service for people in England and Wales. It delivers information and practical advice about public services, bringing them all together in one place.